A MESSAGE FROM THE ADJUTANT GENERAL

STATE OF COLORADO

DEPARTMENT OF MILITARY AND VETERANS AFFAIRS

Centennial, Colorado 80112
Phone (720) 250-1500
Fax (720) 250-1509

Dear Neighbors,

Gov. Jared Polis activated the Colorado National Guard twice during 2023. In January, while extreme cold gripped Colorado, your Air and Army National Guard members augmented state emergency response efforts to shelter those experiencing homelessness in Denver. In October, our Fatality Search and Recovery team executed a difficult mission in support of federal, state and local partners with empathy and professionalism.

Round-the-clock throughout the year, our Soldiers and Airmen were on duty providing our nation missile warning and defense as well as air defense capabilities.

During 2023, more than 150 Colorado Army and Air National Guard members deployed in support of overseas operations and training. Cyber, special forces, and space operators supported the joint force and allies around the world.

2023 marked the CONG’s 100th year in military aviation. The COANG flew a past, present and future formation in the skies above our great state. It was a sight to behold the evolution in our airframes and glimpse the future of our fighter force. June also brought the largest air exercise since the inception of NATO. Your Colorado Air National Guard was there, deploying seven aircraft and 150 Airmen to Germany.

COARNG Soldiers continue to train NASA astronauts at our High-Altitude Army National Guard Training Site in Gypsum so our nation can return to the moon.

In July, the Governor and I welcomed to Colorado His Excellency Marjan Šarec, the Minister of Defense of the Republic of Slovenia, to commemorate the 30th anniversary of a fruitful, strategic state partnership between Colorado and Slovenia.

Since we cannot do any of our missions without our people, we established the first full-time Prevention Workforce and Joint Resiliency Directorate at our headquarters in Centennial in 2023. This innovation, coupled with support from employers and communities, ensures our Soldiers and Airmen can continue to serve Colorado and our nation and remain Always Ready, Always There.

Holding the High Ground!

Respectfully,

Major General Laura Clellan
The Adjutant General of Colorado
CENTENNIAL, Colo. – Lieutenant Governor Dianne Primavera and The Adjutant General of Colorado U.S. Army Brig. Gen. Laura Clellan will host Gold Star families and families of deployed Colorado National Guard members in separate events Dec. 16, 2023, at the Boettcher Mansion in Denver. Gold Star families are those whose loved ones made the ultimate sacrifice in defense of our freedom. Nearly 150 CONG members will spend the holidays away from their families while supporting operations overseas.

Colorado Army National Guard Leaders attend Fort Barfoot redesignation ceremony, keep Colorado Infantry regiment legacy alive

By Colorado National Guard Historian

CENTENNIAL, Colo. – The official ceremony redesignating Fort Pickett as Fort Barfoot took place at Blackstone Army Airfield, Virginia, March 24, 2023.

A congressional commission rebranded Fort Pickett to honor U.S. Army Tech. Sgt. Van T. Barfoot, a World War II Medal of Honor awardee serving in the 157th Infantry Regiment, 45th Infantry Division – a regiment whose origins are with the Colorado Army National Guard.

Fort Pickett, built in 1941 and covering 41,000 acres, was originally named after Confederate General George Pickett. It is the first of nine Army forts to be renamed.

Colorado National Guard activated for arctic blast, assist civil authorities at warming centers

By Sgt. 1st Class Joseph K. VonNida, Colorado National Guard

DENVER – With an extreme cold front bearing down on Colorado, Gov. Jared Polis signed an executive order authorizing the support of up to 100 Colorado National Guard members to assist civil authorities at warming centers across the Denver metropolitan area and Boulder, Colorado, Dec. 20, 2022.

In less than 80 minutes from the time of notification, the first 25 Colorado Air National Guard members volunteered and were prepared to begin onboarding to augment state emergency response efforts at the Denver Colosseum near downtown Denver.

Secretary of Air Force makes historic visit to Colorado Air National Guard Airmen

By U.S. Air Force Capt. Benjamin Kimball, 140th Wing Public Affairs COANG

BUCKLEY SPACE FORCE BASE, AURORA, COLO. – The 26th Secretary of the U.S. Air Force Frank Kendall made an historic visit to the 140th Wing, Colorado Air National Guard at Buckley Space Force Base, Aurora, Colorado, Nov. 3, 2023. Kendall met with Buckley Airmen and Guardians, Governor Jared Polis, and toured 140th Wing facilities and the flight line. Kendall also met with COANG space professionals.

“The wing’s fighters and space assets are essential to National Defense Strategy and Homeland Defense,” said 140th Wing Commander U.S. Air Force Col. Jeremiah “Weed” Tucker. “We need to modernize our fighters and align our space professionals with the U.S. Space Force to ensure our continued relevance.”

Adjutant General of Colorado promotes at official ceremony

By Colorado National Guard Public Affairs

CENTENNIAL, Colo. – The Adjutant General of Colorado U.S. Army Brig. Gen. Laura Clellan will promote to the rank of major general during a formal ceremony at the Wings Over the Rockies Air & Space Museum, Denver, Colorado, Jan. 5, 2024, at 3:00 p.m.

Retired U.S. Air Force Maj. Gen. Gregory White will serve as the presiding official at the ceremony. White was a Colorado National Guardsman and served as the director of space operations, National Guard Bureau, and director of joint staff, Colorado National Guard. Lieutenant Governor Dianne Primavera will be in attendance.

“Congratulations to General Clellan on her well-earned promotion. Laura’s leadership is making Colorado a better place for everyone, including our strong veteran community,” Governor Jared Polis said. “She has led the National Guard through challenges like wildfires and the pandemic and continues working to ensure the Guard remains ready to protect our state and nation.”

Clellan is the 44th adjutant general of Colorado, and the first female to lead the Colorado National Guard. She also serves as a member of the governor’s Cabinet and as executive director for the Colorado Department of Military and Veterans Affairs.

Colorado National Guard’s director of joint staff promotes to major general

By Colorado National Guard Public Affairs

CENTENNIAL, Colo. – The Colorado National Guard’s Director of Joint Staff, U.S. Army Brig. Gen. Scott Sherman, will promote to the rank of major general in a ceremony to be held at Wings Over the Rockies Exploration of Flight, Englewood, Colorado, at 4 p.m., Aug. 26, 2023. A traditional howitzer salute will take place to honor the accomplishment.

Sherman directly supervises the Joint Staff and is the commander of the standing Joint Task Force-Centennial, responsible for leading the CONG response to domestic events as directed by the governor.

In his next assignment, Sherman will serve as commander of Contingency Command Post 1 and Task Force 51. Task Force 51, a subordinate element of U.S. Army North, is a scalable, deployable command post that provides mission command options for routine and contingency operations in the U.S. Northern Command area of responsibility.

Colorado Army National Guard field artillery unit trains for deployment

By Colorado National Guard Public Affairs

BUCKLEY SPACE FORCE BASE, Colo. – “Attention in the Tactical Operations Center,” echoes off the high ceilings, the noisy din of various shops stopping abruptly to hear the update from the battle captain. A unit has suffered casualties, and the battle captain proceeds to give everyone the details of the incident. Once the information has been put out, the shops jump back into action, boards and maps changed to reflect the new situation, and coordinating instructions take place for remedying the incident. This is what Soldiers with the 169th Field Artillery Brigade, Colorado Army National Guard, experienced during a communications exercise for their two-week annual training period, Sept. 9 - 23, 2023.

Physical fitness is key to Warrior success

By U.S. Army Sgt. 1st Class Joseph K. VonNida

FORT CARSON, Colo. – Fatigue, muscle failure, sprains, and strains are all side effects for those competing in a Best Warrior competition. The intense physical requirement could be considered enough to invoke sympathetic pain in bystanders and spectators. The Colorado National Guard’s 2023 BWC tested competitor’s physical stamina, starting with the Army Combat Fitness Test.

New Colorado National Guard directorate prioritizes serving its members

By U.S. Army Sgt. 1st Class Joseph K. VonNida

Centennial, Colo. – Due to the unfortunate situation involving U.S. Army Spc. Vanessa Guillen at Fort Hood, Texas, in April 2020, U.S. President Joe Biden ordered the Secretary of Defense to establish an Independent Review Commission to end sexual assault in the military. In conjunction with the IRC, the National Defense Authorization Act 2022 then directed the National Guard to implement a dedicated full-time Prevention Workforce between fiscal years 2022 and 2024.

BUCKLEY SPACE FORCE BASE, Colo. – The 140th Wing, Colorado Air National Guard will celebrate the 100th anniversary of military aviation in Colorado by hosting a family day for its members May 7, 2023, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Hangar 801, Buckley Space Force Base, Aurora, Colorado.

The COANG has been a pioneer in utilizing aviation as a means of defense for state and nation for a century and has continually adapted and innovated this technology to remain “Always Ready, Always There.”

“We honor the trail blazed for us by our predecessors in Colorado aviation, and the countless achievements by the Colorado Air National Guard that have followed this milestone,” said 140th Wing Commander U.S. Air Force, Col. Christopher “Wedge” Southard. “100 years later we continue our proud aviation heritage by patrolling Colorado’s skies with the F-16C+ Fighting Falcon while also broadening our scope of capabilities towards space and cyber defense.”

BUCKLEY SPACE FORCE BASE, Colo. – More than 190 Citizen Airmen from the 140th Wing, Colorado Air National Guard participated in the Checkered Flag Exercise at Tyndall Air Force Base, Florida, Oct. 25-Nov. 8, 2023.

Nearly half of the COANG participants were drill status guardsmen who traditionally serve one weekend a month as well as during annual training and deployments.

“Every shop and person out here contribute a critical piece to mission success,” The Adjutant General of Colorado U.S. Army Brig. Gen. Laura Clellan said while visiting 140th Airmen at Checkered Flag. “It just can’t happen without every single person. They can see how they tie in truly to the mission and, ultimately, the National Defense Strategy.”
